Hannah has experience in criminal and civil litigation matters.

Prior to joining ArentFox Schiff, Hannah served as a law clerk for the Honorable Daniel E. Ortiz, Court of Appeals of Virginia, and for the Honorable Robert A. Salerno, Superior Court of the District of Columbia. She also previously served as a judicial intern for the Honorable Irma S. Raker, Court of Appeals of Maryland.

While in law school, Hannah worked as a student attorney at The George Washington University Law School Prisoner & Reentry Clinic, where she represented an incarcerated client in connection with resentencing proceedings and drafted Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests. She was also a legal intern at the US Department of Housing and Urban Development Office of Inspector General, where she assisted investigative counsel and criminal investigators in interviewing whistleblowers. Before attending law school, Hannah was a litigation paralegal at the New York City office of an international law firm.

Life Beyond the Law

Outside of work, Hannah enjoys attending concerts at the 9:30 Club, reading fiction, and spending time with the family dog, Wally.
