Taylor specializes in commercial disputes and litigation with diverse experience in an array of industries, including retail, technology, life sciences, financial services, and insurance. She is adept at managing complex legal issues involving breach of contract, bad faith, trademark, copyright, trade secrets, and fraud.

Previously, Taylor has represented financial institutions and major corporations in high-stakes litigation. She has excelled in drafting pleadings, briefs, and motions at all stages of federal and state litigation. She actively engages in the discovery process, preparing for depositions, collaborating with witnesses, and overseeing e-discovery.

Life Beyond the Law

Outside of work, Taylor enjoys trying new restaurants, traveling, pilates, and crossword puzzles.
